To the strains of "Georgia Camp Meeting" and other popular music several dozen participants tripped the fancy steps about in the chapel in a way that would make a genuine Southern dandy turn green with envy.

At Tipton Was Formally Opened This Morning With Simplest of Ceremonies.

United Press Telegram.—TIPTON, Pa., July 20.—After a brief ceremony at 8 o'clock this morning, Camp Lindsay, a new military camp, was formally opened. The camp, which is situated on the National Guard comprising the Second Brigade of the State will live and practice the military life. It has been expected that in honor of General Wiley, who a last brigade camp this is, especially elaborate ceremonies would mark the establishment of the camp, but the contrary was the case.

Shortly before 8 o'clock Battery B took its position before headquarters. Soldiers of various regiments were drawn up in attention in their company groups, while the Fourteenth Regiment Band played "The Star Spangled Banner." Old Glory was slowly hoisted into position on a steel flag pole directly in front of General Wiley's tent, while Battery B saluted the flag with 21 guns. With due dignity all in camp stood in silence with heads uncovered. Camp routine officially was in full swing almost before the smoke of the morning salute had cleared away.

WON IN THE EIGHTH.

Batting Streak Coupled With Errors Put Beavers Down and Out.

THE LOCALS HAD A BAD INNING.

For a While in the Seventh It Seemed All Up With O'Hara's Boys, but They Came Back and Easily Tied Up a Victory.

By a bombardment of hits coupled with six disastrous errors on the part of Beaver Falls, Conneltsville batted out a victory in the eighth inning of yesterday's game, winning to the tune of 11 to 5. With the exception of the aforesaid eighth, the game was closely contested, being replete with fast fielding on both sides. Conneltsville played an errorless game and up to the hoodoo lining the visitors had made but one holding miscue, although two wild pitches in succession with men on bases gave Conneltsville two runs in the second inning.

A base on balls, a single and a sacrifice placed Birmingham on third and Tiffany on second. A wild pitch scored Birmingham. As the same trick permitted Tiffany to cross the plate. In the fifth two more runs were piled up. After Mathers fanned Griffin reached the initial sack on Nevinger's fumble. He advanced on Welsh's single and scored on Elman's out, third to first. O'Hara's single scored Welsh.

The Beavers scored first in the sixth on Kelly's single and Carter's home run. The latter caught a "waste ball" and lifted it away over Mathers' head in right field. Merriams scored in the eighth, the visitors leading one run ahead on four singles, which netted three runs. There were two close decisions in this inning which Umpire Nugent called safe for the visitors.

Conneltsville went to bat in the eighth determined to win. Ansberry began by popping a high foul to Watchorn. Birmingham singled and went to third when Pfeiffer's throw to second went far into right field. Tiffany hit to short, scoring Birmingham, and was safe on Nevinger's bad throw. Laird lined a high fly to middle field, which Kelly and Brown went after. Kelly got the ball squarely in his hands, but Brown, who was also after it, crashed into him, knocking the sphere a dozen yards away. Laird continued to run and reached third before the ball was returned to the diamond. The throw in was bad and bounded over Watchorn's head and Laird yelled. Tiffany had crossed the gun ahead of him. Mathers, whose batting eye has been out of late, popped a fly to Devers, who got the ball after a hard run. Griffin hit an easy one up the first base line which Heints played tag with long enough to let the runner get safe. Welsh lined one down to Watchorn, who fumbled, and both took an extra base when Nevinger heaved Elman's grounder into first. A three base hit by O'Hara cleared the bases and Denny scored on Ansberry's single. Pop was put to sleep trying to stretch his single to a two bagger. Beaver Falls couldn't score in the first of the ninth. Score:

FOOD FOR FANS.

What Players Are Doing in West Penn and P. O. M.

Conneltsville is said to be the hardest town in the League to please in umpiring. Charley Nugent, who has been working here this week handling the indicator, has pleased the fans and players generally. There have been protests, but they have been mild. Nugent gives his decisions impartially and just as he sees them. He has had an awful bunch of close ones to decide in the last five games. There were several yesterday. One where Elman had Carter out stealing second in the eighth was wrong but Nugent had two bases to watch, the play being a double steal and Carter looked safe to him from where he was standing in the diamond. The fact of the matter is, however, that Carter was out by a foot or two, Elman touching him after he had slid over the bag. Everyone saw the play along the left field bleachers, but they knew Nugent had given his decision honestly. If Nugent follows umpiring he will be found higher up next season.

Rupp was wild but he pitched a better game than the score would indicate. The support he received was miserable.

Several Scottsdale people came over to bet on the Beavers. It was an off day, however.

The Conneltsville boys show that they can hit the ball when necessary. They gave Welsh perfect support.

Joe Tally left this morning for Towler (Ill. Schickill) center, where he will play outfield for that team, which is a member of the Valley League. Miller of Scottsdale and Nevinger of Beaver Falls played their last season. Twin didn't get much of a chance in Conneltsville, really never playing more than three innings in a single game, before he was let out, which disheartened and soured him. He played mighty good ball for the Carlisle Indians.

The knockers were silent yesterday in the eighth. The fellows who always bet on the visiting team were bumped too.

Danny Hart is playing a nice game for Catsasqua. He is at short and leads off his team. On Tuesday of this week Catsasqua with Johnny Woodruff pitching beat Allentown of the Atlantic League 5 to 1. Hart had two hits.

Chip Francis has not had much to do in the field for Winchester. He played his first game on Wednesday against Martinsburg and had a hit. Eddie Dugan had two blunders including a two sacker.

That bump between Kelly and Brown in the eighth was disastrous. Both players kept shouting "I hate it," and neither heard the other.

Mathers has not shown up as well in hitting as when he was with the team earlier in the season.

Rupp was wild in the first innings of the game. Pfeiffer had trouble holding him.

O'Hara is a bad man with men on bases. On both occasions yesterday he proved equal to the emergency in the eighth, clearing the bases, which were full, with a three bagger. Denny is also the best watter on the team.

The knockers in the grand stand are not home fans, but fellows who come from out of town and usually have a dollar or two bet against Conneltsville.

Cash Grim, the famous old sprinter, came over from Scottsdale. He took down a ten spot on Conneltsville just to cover expenses of the trip.

Butler was easy for Scottsdale. Keep your eye on that man Miller. He pitched the game yesterday. Most of the season he has been behind the bat.

Parkersburg had better hurry along. Seven of its makes an almost impossible schlemie arrangement.

Eyerman is due today. Here's a boost for the Hogan recruit.

Harry Tate has been ill at his wife's home at Johnstown.

Laird has improved 50 per cent. as a fielder and better since he joined the local team. Malarkey picked him up near Wilkes-Barre and his judgment proved good.

Elman continues to play fast ball. His throwing is a thing of beauty these days.

Tiffany had several bad ones to handle at first yesterday. He is by long odds the best holding first sacker in the league.

When Carter made his home run with a man on base Johnny Welsh kept his nerve. The Erie boy has been in deklish places before.

Where are the score cards? About once a week they make their appearance.

Beaver Falls has a gentlemanly crowd of boys.

Pfeiffer Luling has been released. He had some trouble at the grounds yesterday before the game started and outside the fence there was a run in between him and Director William Rice. Luling was abusive and Rice fanned him once or twice and had him escorted away from the grounds. Luling in condition is a winner. Many fans regret that the big fellow goes not take the best of care of himself.

DIAMOND FLASHES.

Gossip of the Players and Clubs in the Big Leagues.

Notes from the Baseball Diamond.

The Brooklyn team has won five of the last seven games played with the "Gards."

Infielder Nichols is making good with the Philadelphia Americans.

Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Boston are having a great struggle to lead the second division in the National League.

The St. Louis Browns look to be as strong as any team in the American League, all they can't win enough games to get near the top.

The annual announcement of Manager Clarke's retirement at the end of the season is out. Perhaps Fred likes to worry the Pittsburgh fans.

It would not surprise many if the teams that finish first and second in both major leagues are Western teams.

For the first time in twenty years a National League pennant floats from the flag staff at the West Side grounds in Chicago.

The Cleveland's three links of German pitching, Liebhart, Theissman and Burger, are doing good work for the "Naps."

Elmer Flick of the Cleveland team has a great record in hitting, base stealing and run getting this season.

Fitcher Lew Nomen of the Philadelphia Nationals owns $6000 worth of stock in the Boston National League club.

The teams comprising the Eastern division of the American League are all playing better ball than they played during their first Western trip.

Tim Flood, the Toronto player who was sentenced to fifteen days in jail for assaulting Umpire Conway, served seven days and was released. He has been expelled from the Eastern League.

The champion White Sox are playing a much stronger game than they were playing at this time last season. It looks as though the team that wins the pennant will have to beat the Sox.

Manager McLuckie of St. Louis says that he told his boys he wanted harmony and didn't care what place they occupied in the pennant race. "Mac" has the harmony at right and also a full-sized club.

There has been some great hitting at the New York American League grounds this season. During the last stay of the Highlanders at home they made 77 hits and their opponents 75 hits in five successive games.

The Boston women who attend the American League games always buy three soups, the third one being for a fat puddle who curls up on a newspaper and sleeps during the game.

When one of the kids who hung out at the bleacher entrance heard the story he said: "Gee! Well I was a dog."

SCOTSDALE LEADS.

Jumped into First Place in West Penn by Beating Butler Team Yesterday.

Scottsdale jumped into first place in the West Penn League race yesterday afternoon by easily defeating Butler 13 to 6. Miller, who has been cutting nearly all of Scottsdale's games, pitched, and while Butler knocked him up for 12 at bats, they were scattered. Scottsdale found touch for 11 hits in two innings.

Clark finally relieving him. Seven runs came over the run in the first inning for the Mill Town boys. Scottsdale's fast fielding kept Butler's score down for Miller, who, by the way, being hit for 12 bingles, gave seven passes to first.

At Clarksburg yesterday Big Bill Dewell got into the lineup by pitching Greensburg to victory over the Eslerites by a score of seven to one. Greensburg got but four hits on the 8-inning. Stillwell at second for Greensburg had three hits, and 10 chances, all of which he handled cleanly.

Fairmont defeated Parkersburg easily, by the score of eight to one in an exhibition game.

COWS ARE POSSESSED

Gift-of-Tongues Naylor Uses Shotgun to Drive Out Spirits.

Alliance, O., July 20.—"They are possessed of devils and the only way to get rid of them is to shoot 'em." Thus spoke H. S. Naylor, gift-of-tongues convert, as he emptied the contents of a double-barrel repeating shotgun into two cows which broke away from a drove of cattle that were being driven past his farm.

As the cows dropped to the ground Joseph Pliver of Beechfield, who owned the Alliance, remonstrated with Naylor, who got the gift during "Anastie" Lewis' recent camp meeting here, but to no avail.

"Cows which are being driven along the highway will not run into every open gate they see if they are all right," said Naylor. "No, sir; these animals are possessed of devils and the sooner they die the better."

A FAMILY FEUD.

Young Man Darkens His Father-in-Law's Countenance at Scottdale.

HIS OWN FACE WAS SCRATCHED.

Three Women and One Man Had Already Mixed Up Things for the Son-in-Law—Two Bound Over in the Sum of $300.

SCOTSDALE, July 20.—Two airings of a large-sized family quarrel were given in Burgess William Ferguson's office and the office of Justice of the Peace H. C. Hubbs on Friday. In the first hearing Mr. and Mrs. John O'Rourke, Jr. and Mrs. Harry Stoner, Miss Menner and Charles Benford appeared, charged with fighting on the streets. It seems that Harry Stoner started to move away from town, intending to go to live at Hawkeye. Being fearful, it is claimed, that he would take some of the household goods belonging to her, Mrs. Stoner and the other named ladies and Mr. Stoner got into a scarp, in which the latter was scratched up in a very decorative fashion. Finally he, so it was told, finding the three ladies too much for him, grabbed a piece of board and sliced it with such precision that its circulation struck Mrs. O'Rourke, Mr. Benford then became involved on the women's side of the proposition and gave Stoner a few punches. The war then subsided, and Stoner, feeling that he was on a short furlough, commenced again to get his fitting in shape. In the meantime, the story continues, Mrs. O'Rourke sought her husband, and the latter went into Stoner's front door to chastise him, when Stoner blackened both of his father-in-law's cheeks. Mr. Benford, it is alleged, was again going to cut the latter, but was persuaded that he had been chivalrous enough for the day. The entire lot were given a hearing by the Burgess and assessed $3 each. Mrs. O'Rourke in the meantime had sued Stoner for assault and battery and Stoner had sued Benford on the same charge. The hearing was held before Justice Hubbs and he bound each of them over in the sum of $300. Mr. Stoner's wife is still with her parents, and the Stoner moving has arrived with out mishap in Hawkeye. The whole case is a quite involved one. The affair has caused a great deal of talk, as all the parties are prominent in town. It is said that both sides will make the matter a very interesting one should it come to trial at the County Capital.

SCOTSDALE SCRAPS

Picked Up Around the Coke Region's Hill Town.

SCOTSDALE, July 20.—The work of making the new road up the hollow between Byers Feigar and John L. Shively, west of town, is about completed, under Supervisor John Lehighy, who expects to pick the intervening portion of road from Shively's to the forks of the road at the former A. T. Fleming place. This piece of road has been for a long time one of the worst in the township, being badly washed and so full of stone that it makes it very uncomfortable to drive over. With the establishing of the new road which cuts off quite a distance from Boggs town, its supporters claim that it will gather a good deal of the travel from the Boggs town locality. It is said the Supervisor is anxious to fix it up, but that the Board of Township Supervisors have intimated that it will not be repaired this year. In case that a refusal is made the citizens will probably know the reason why. The new road is quite a good one, and was built at a cost of $320. Owen Rittenhouse and John Shively, who own fine properties along it, donated the ground for the road.

The Scottdale Plumbing & Roofing Company have removed from their old quarters on Broadway to their new location, 212 Pittsburg street. It is now better equipped to take care of its increasing business, under the management of J. F. Grantham. Estimates furnished all over the county.

Mrs. H. E. Dorsey and Mrs. George L. Detwiler were visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Powell, of Connelville, on Thursday.

Mrs. Maria Detwiler and Miss Ma Linda Stoner were the guests of Mr. Frank Detwiler of New Haven on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sherlock desire to sincerely thank the many friends and neighbors who so kindly extended their help and sympathy during their recent bereavement in the loss of their little daughter, Frances.

Mrs. H. H. Jenuwine of Williamsburg, with her two children is here for a month's visit with her mother, Mrs. M. B. Jones, of Broadway.

A gentleman who let no card but a $5 forfeit came down from Mason town and absorbed some of the amber fluid and started an altercation at Miller Brothers' store Friday forenoon, just as Chief of Police Frank McCadden came along. The stranger was escorted to the lockup, and when he awoke to a realization of his sinful condition in the afternoon he put up a $5 forfeit. When he left he said that he was going to get drunk again and would be back. Later in the day Officer Austin Hyde picked him up and brought him to the lockup, where the visitor immediately went to slumber on in Cell No. 1. He is one of the most truthful men that have come to Scottdale in a long time.

From Westmoreland's County Seat.

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 20.—The Pennsylvania is finally going to do something for Greensburg in the way of a depot. This was definitely known yesterday, when condemnation proceedings were started against the Joseph Taylor Company, which owns a block of property that opposite the present excuse for a depot. The company wants possession of the land for improvements and filed a bond for the sum of $50,000. The land owners filed a motion to have this bond increased, claiming that the total damage will be over $115,000. A distillery building was planned some months ago, and considerable work has been done upon it. The company applied for a distiller's license at the last term of court, but was withdrawn before it came up for a hearing. That the company is trying to improve the property to make heavier damages possible is certain, and a big legal battle is now expected. However, the Highton shows Greensburg people that the company is in earnest about building a depot here, and that is what Greensburg people want to hear.

Five pieces were pulled off by the Greensburg Driving Club yesterday afternoon. The day was ideal, the going good and the club management made hay while the sun shone. A bad accident marred the pleasure of the afternoon. James Thompson, driving a Buick, mixed up with his rig when he broke her hobbles, and had his left ear cut off close to the head. He was taken to the Westmoreland hospital and is in a serious condition. The races will be finished up today. The free for all pacer, with Muffs and Hot B. entered, will be pulled off, and will be the exhibition mile by Frank Youkum, who will, it is thought, lower the track record. His mark is 2:04 1/2. A big crowd is expected.

There is trouble between the police force and the Burgess in Youngwood. The force consists entirely of Joe Howell, formerly of Greensburg, but he has made considerable trouble for Burgess Stoner, and says he will resign if the Burgess does not change his methods. Howell claims that Moss will not find prisoners when they are arrested. Moss has many friends in Youngwood. It is claimed, and he treats his friends too well. Howell is the first officer Youngwood has had for some time, and the citizens are anxious to retain him. The matter will be brought to the attention of the Town Council at their next meeting.

MRS. ROQUA ARISON.

Wife of E. A. Arison, Store Manager at Adelaide Works, Died Yesterday Afternoon.

Mrs. Roqua Arison, aged 29 years, wife of E. A. Arison, manager of the United Supply store at Adelaide, died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of her father, J. W. Scott, No. 41 East Fayette street, Uniontown, after a lingering illness. Funeral from her father's residence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Oak Grove Cemetery, Uniontown.

Deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scott, the latter being deceased. She was born and reared at New Salem. She was married to Enoch A. Arison, one of the most widely known employees of the United Supply Company. About nine years ago they moved to Fayette, where Mr. Arison was store manager. They lived there up until two years ago, when Mr. Arison was transferred to Adelaide. They then moved to Eighth street, Greenwood, where they have since resided. Deceased was highly respected by her host of friends who had been all her life. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mozelle Arison. Her father, three sisters and one brother also survive. Dr. E. E. Scott of Toledo, O.; Mrs. G. O. Bush, Mrs. William Goshell, Uniontown, and Mrs. L. Frost of New Salem.

Tarred, Feathered and Told to Go. Findlay, O., July 20.—Celia Smith, age 55, was tarred and feathered at Van Buren, seven miles from here, and given a few hours to leave town. Suspicion had been directed toward him some time for serious wrong doings. The crowd tore off his clothes, smeared him with tar and then applied the feathers. Afterward his office was being up and shot at by the enraged citizens. Smith's wife was an unwilling witness to the scene. She left town with him.

Head Split Open by Hayfork. New Castle, Pa., July 20.—Instant death in a most terrible form came to Charles, age 14, son of Samuel Metz of North Beaver township, when his skull was split by a falling hayfork. Hay was being lifted into the barn by a power fork, suspended from a beam. The latter broke, letting the heavy tackle drop. The fork struck the boy upon the head, killing him instantly.

Ohio Village Suffers by Flood. Zanesville, O., July 20.—Connellsville, a town of 300 inhabitants, eight miles south of this city, was almost wiped off the map by a flood. A cloudburst occurred a mile above the village and in a short time a torrent made its way down the narrow valley, completely inundating the village. Dwellings were washed from their foundations and the inhabitants had barely time to escape to the hills. No lives were lost.

Engineers Will Plan. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of Connelville are arranging to hold a picnic at Confluence about August 30.

CREW WAS CARELESS

Neglect of Necessary Precautions Caused Disaster on Battleship Georgia

Washington, July 20.—The naval board inquiring into the disaster on the battleship Georgia was arrived at the conclusion that a "blowed barrel" caused the catastrophe.

A "blowed barrel" is caused by a clogging off two weeks the blast of compressed air which is supposed to expel from the hole of the gun the unburnt gases and fragments of smoldering powder coming out might be left from the last firing.

What happened on the Georgia was this: The breach of the gun was thrown open and the air blast turned in at a pressure of the powder to the square inch. The gas or smoldering bits of cloth remaining from the ammunition casing were blown probably more than half way to the muzzle of the gun when the last was turned off. The Georgia was steaming at 19 knots into the wind, which blew into the muzzle of the gun. The unburnt gases of cloth were driven back by the breeze into the breach of the gun and out upon the powder charge which was just about to be inserted and the explosion followed.

The cause of this accident will without doubt be set down to the ammunition of the gunners to make a record. The blow in point of speed. Had the air blast been kept on for a second longer, in all probability the accident would have been avoided. Three shots from an eight-inch gun in a target in one minute or 10 shots from both guns in a target in two minutes is a record practice and there is no one to believe that Lieut. Goodrich's crew were about to smash that record.

Boston, July 20.—The death of the explosion aboard the battleship Georgia has been recorded in the death of Mississippi, John Cruz at the Chelsea naval hospital. At the hospital it was stated that the condition of Seaman Louis Mause and John A. Bush was not favorable. The condition of Seaman Harold L. Gilbert, John A. Foss, John O. Malek and James P. Thomas remains about the same, general improvement being shown. Chief Yeoman Orly Taghian, Seaman Samuel L. Rosenberger and Boatwain's Mate Schlapp are doing well. C. L. Eichen and Gunner's Mate P. Karsoll are out of danger.

Altoona, O., July 20.—In a practice game of baseball Frank Shindler was killed, the ball hitting him over the heart.

He served in both houses of congress and was secretary of state under President Polk. He was elected president in 1856 as a Democrat, defeating John C. Fremont, the first Republican candidate. Buchanan's administration was marked by his feeble resistance to impending secession. After his retirement, however, he upheld Lincoln's policy in prosecuting the war against the Confederacy. He declared that the administration of his successor should be sustained at all hazards and lent his influence to that end.

NEW VAUDEVILLE THEATRE TO OPEN IN CONNELLSVILLE.

Polite and Progressive Patrons of This City Will Have Chance to See It Within Next Twenty Days.

SOME FINE ACTS ARE BOOKED.

Strictest Secrecy Has Been Maintained
As to Location of the New Theatre,
But It Will Be With Easy Access to the Shopping District.

An innovation which no doubt will prove popular to theatre goers will be the opening of a new vaudeville theatre here within the next twenty days, a house devoted exclusively to refined vaudeville.

Mr. A. W. Thomas of Cleveland, O., representing the National Vaudeville Association, was registered at the Marietta yesterday and stated to a Courier representative that all contracts and leases were signed up and work would progress at once. A day and night crew of carpenters and electricians will begin work tonight and it is hoped that the new play house will be ready for an initial performance Monday evening, August 5. Negotiations were opened up some time ago, but not until yesterday was the deal finally completed, which will place Connellsville on the National Vaudeville circuit, having just booked here that day in Cleveland, Pittsburg, Boston, New York, Chicago and other large cities. Among some of the acts Mr. Thomas stated as already booked to appear here are:

Ibez McCusker, soprano prima donna, with John Philip Sousa for two years.

The Great Forde, known as the King and Queen of the handkerchief world.

Famous Evans Trio, in their New York success, "School Daze."

Alice Walsh, soprano, late of Geo. Cohen's "Little Johnny Jones Co."

Tom Powell, celebrated black face monologist, late of Al. G. Fields' Minstrels.

Geo. A. Worthen, baritone soloist at New York Hippodrome, and late of Charles H. Hinchman's "Madcap Princess" Opera Co.

Mary Madden, lady impersonator, Harry Lakota, fantastic sailor juggler.

Mortimer Bassett, the world's greatest animal imitator.

Baby Phyllis, the rage of New York, child artist, and many others.

The strictest secrecy has been maintained as to the location of the new theatre, but it has been learned that it will be in easy access to the shopping district, and that the local manager is a resident of Connellsville and is fully qualified for his position through his being identified with the theatrical business a number of years, and is at present heavily interested in a local amusement house.

Many metropolitan plans will be introduced and as a whole the theatre will be a family play house catering especially to ladies and children, with daily matinees and evening performances, giving to its patrons a strictly moral performance in motion pictures and the most refined acts in vaudeville.

The Connellsville house when opened will be one of a limited and four which are booked exclusively by the National Vaudeville Association.

The Star Family Theatre, Uniontown, opened July 1st, has been continually turning people away at almost every performance.

The price of admission to the local house will be the popular price, reserved seats, 15c, general admission, 10c.

A definite opening date will be announced later and it is the desire of local parties known to be interested that Mr. Gus Sim, Business Manager of the Association at Springfield, O., William A. McSherry, Secretary, and A. W. Thomas, Manager, will be here for the opening night. It is all probability some one of the above named gentlemen will be here.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

New York, July 20.—Dun's Weekly Review of Trade says today:

"Encouraging reports are received from leading commercial centers, the volume of business being exceptionally heavy for the season and stocks are depleted by the usual clearance sales, providing more prompt payments and greater confidence in the future. Buyers are numerous in the large cities preparing for an active fall trade, now that the agricultural outlook is less uncertain. Clothing manufacturers report much new business and few cancellations.

"Dullness in the pig iron market is not unusual at this time of the year but there is no reduction in output and no evidence that furnace owners are seeking business at lower prices.

At some of the steel mills there is also more or less seasonable absence of new contracts, but specifications are large on old orders and the plants must stop for repairs do not resume life any longer than necessary.

The most definite evidence that the situation is perfectly sound is the absence of pressure to find business at this weak time that is so significant, concessions in prices. Thus far the iron and steel market has avoided

On the contrary producers are confident that much delayed business will appear when the crops are secured, while still more postponed work only waits for a normal money market. A small tonnage of structural shapes was placed during the past week and another large vessel provided considerable trade in plate."

POPE HAS A VISION

Apparition of the Virgin Mary Guides Him in England.

Rome, July 20.—A member of the pope's household says Pope Plus hesitated somewhat before he took the grave step of ordering the publication of the syllabus with regard to the so-called modernism in the faith, but all his doubts were removed by a miraculous apparition of the blessed Virgin, which extended its hand in a gesture of benediction and encouragement over his head as if in answer to his prayer for heavenly guidance.

The pontiff thereupon rose from his knee and signed the decree.

The Woman In the Alcove

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN.

Author of "The Millionaire Baby," "The Finger-Boy," "The Amethyst Box," etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, THE BOBBES-MERRILL COMPANY

What did it mean? In the excitement of the horrible occurrence which had befallen me, I had forgotten this curious experience, but on feeling anew the vague sensation of shock and expectation which seemed to me and a companion, I became conscious of a sudden conviction that the picture which had opened before me in the upper room was the result of a reflection in a glass or mirror of something then going on in a place not otherwise within the reach of my vision, a reflection the importance of which I suddenly realized when I called at what a critical moment it had occurred. A man in a state of dread looking at his breast, within five minutes of the attack and rush of the dreadful event which had marked this evening.

A hope great as the despair in which I had been sunk, gave me courage to drop my hands and advance impatiently toward the inspector.

"Don't speak, I pray, don't judge any of us further till you have heard what I have to say."

In great astonishment and with an aspect of severity, he asked me what I had to say now which I had not had the opportunity of saying before. I replied with all the passion of a forlorn hope that it was only at this present moment I remembered a fact which might have a very decided bearing on this case, and, detecting evidence, as I thought, of relenting on his part, I backed up this statement by an earnest for a few words with him apart as the matter I had to tell was private and possibly too fanciful for any ear but his own.

He looked as if he apprehended some loss of valuable time, but touched by the voluntary gesture of appeal which I supplemented by my request, he led me into a corner, where, with just an encouraging glance toward Mr. Durand, who seemed struck dumb by my action, I told the inspector of that momentary picture which I had seen reflected in what I was now sure was some window pane or mirror.

"It was at a time coincident or very nearly coincident, with the perpetration of the crime you are now investigating," I concluded. "Within five minutes afterward, I saw the shadow which roused us all to what had happened in the alcove. I do not know what passage I saw or what door or even what figure, but the latter I am sure was that of the guilty man. Some thing of the outline (and it was the outline only I could catch) expressed an emotion incomprehensible to me at the moment, but which in my remembrance impresses me as that of fear and dread. It was not the entrance to the alcove, I believe—that would have struck me at once—but some other opening which I might recognize if I saw it. Cannot that opening be found and may it not give a clue to the man I saw skulking through it with terror and remorse in his heart?"

Was this figure when you saw it turned toward you or away? The inspector inquired, with unexpected interest.

"Turned partly away. He was going from me."

"And you saw where?"

"I saw him."

The inspector bowed, then with a low word of caution turned to my uncle.

"I am going to take this young lady into the hall for a moment at her own request. May I ask you and Mr. Durand to await me here?"

Without pausing for reply he threw open the door and presently we were pacing the deserted upper room seeking the place where I had seen the figure. It seemed by a miracle, everything being in great disorder. Guided by my bouquet which I had left behind me in my escape from the table I laid hold of the chair before which it lay, and I declared quite confidently to the inspector.

"This is where I saw it."

Naturally his glance and mine both flew to the opposite wall. A window was before us of an unusual size and make. Unlike any which had ever before come under my observation, it swung on a pivot and though shut at the present moment, might very easily when opened prevent its huge pane at an angle capable of catching reflections from some of the many mirrors decorating the reception room situated diagonally across the hall. As all the doors on this lower floor were of unusual width an open pane was offered, as it were, for those reflections to pass making it possible for scenes to be framed here which to the person involved would seem as safe from any or as secure as if they were taking place in the adjoining house.

As we realized this, a look passed between us of more than ordinary significance. Pointing to the window the inspector turned to a group of waiters waiting us from the other side of the room and asked if it had been opened that evening.

The answer came quickly.

"Yes, sir—just before the—"

"I understand," broke in the inspector, "and I believe you are right. Tell me again exactly what you thought you saw."

But I could add little to my former description.

"Perhaps you can tell me this," he suddenly persisted. "Was the picture when you saw it on a level with your eyes or did you have to lift your head in order to see it?"

"It was high up—in the air as it were. That seemed its most feature."

"The inspector's mouth too came a rigid curve."

"Possibly I might identify the door and passage if I saw them," I suggested.

"Certainly," he replied, "was his chance."

"I followed him," I said, "and saw him enter the room."

ask from where you sit if the door of the alcove had not been closed, it might have been seen by the man who was in the room at the time of the crime. The reflection in the glass or mirror of the picture which had opened before me in the upper room was the result of a reflection in a glass or mirror of something then going on in a place not otherwise within the reach of my vision, a reflection the importance of which I suddenly realized when I called at what a critical moment it had occurred. A man in a state of dread looking at his breast, within five minutes of the attack and rush of the dreadful event which had marked this evening.

A hope great as the despair in which I had been sunk, gave me courage to drop my hands and advance impatiently toward the inspector.

"Don't speak, I pray, don't judge any of us further till you have heard what I have to say."

In great astonishment and with an aspect of severity, he asked me what I had to say now which I had not had the opportunity of saying before.

I replied with all the passion of a forlorn hope that it was only at this present moment I remembered a fact which might have a very decided bearing on this case, and, detecting evidence, as I thought, of relenting on his part, I backed up this statement by an earnest for a few words with him apart as the matter I had to tell was private and possibly too fanciful for any ear but his own.

He looked as if he apprehended some loss of valuable time, but touched by the voluntary gesture of appeal which I supplemented by my request, he led me into a corner, where, with just an encouraging glance toward Mr. Durand, who seemed struck dumb by my action, I told the inspector of that momentary picture which I had seen reflected in what I was now sure was some window pane or mirror.

"It was at a time coincident or very nearly coincident, with the perpetration of the crime you are now investigating," I concluded. "Within five minutes afterward, I saw the shadow which roused us all to what had happened in the alcove. I do not know what passage I saw or what door or even what figure, but the latter I am sure was that of the guilty man. Some thing of the outline (and it was the outline only I could catch) expressed an emotion incomprehensible to me at the moment, but which in my remembrance impresses me as that of fear and dread. It was not the entrance to the alcove, I believe—that would have struck me at once—but some other opening which I might recognize if I saw it. Cannot that opening be found and may it not give a clue to the man I saw skulking through it with terror and remorse in his heart?"

Was this figure when you saw it turned toward you or away? The inspector inquired, with unexpected interest.

"Turned partly away. He was going from me."

"And you saw where?"

"I saw him."

The inspector bowed, then with a low word of caution turned to my uncle.

"I am going to take this young lady into the hall for a moment at her own request. May I ask you and Mr. Durand to await me here?"

Without pausing for reply he threw open the door and presently we were pacing the deserted upper room seeking the place where I had seen the figure. It seemed by a miracle, everything being in great disorder. Guided by my bouquet which I had left behind me in my escape from the table I laid hold of the chair before which it lay, and I declared quite confidently to the inspector.

"This is where I saw it."

Naturally his glance and mine both flew to the opposite wall. A window was before us of an unusual size and make. Unlike any which had ever before come under my observation, it swung on a pivot and though shut at the present moment, might very easily when opened prevent its huge pane at an angle capable of catching reflections from some of the many mirrors decorating the reception room situated diagonally across the hall. As all the doors on this lower floor were of unusual width an open pane was offered, as it were, for those reflections to pass making it possible for scenes to be framed here which to the person involved would seem as safe from any or as secure as if they were taking place in the adjoining house.

As we realized this, a look passed between us of more than ordinary significance. Pointing to the window the inspector turned to a group of waiters waiting us from the other side of the room and asked if it had been opened that evening.

The answer came quickly.

"Yes, sir—just before the—"

"I understand," broke in the inspector, "and I believe you are right. Tell me again exactly what you thought you saw."

But I could add little to my former description.

"Perhaps you can tell me this," he suddenly persisted. "Was the picture when you saw it on a level with your eyes or did you have to lift your head

in order to see it?"

"It was high up—in the air as it were. That seemed its most feature."

"The inspector's mouth too came a rigid curve."

"Possibly I might identify the door and passage if I saw them," I suggested.

"Certainly," he replied, "was his chance."

"I followed him," I said, "and saw him enter the room."
